2015 PETITE SIRAH

LAHEY VINEYARDS
TEXAS HIGH PLAINS AVA

100% Petite Sirah | Lahey Vineyards | Texas High Plains AVA

VINEYARD

Lahey Vineyards is a 1,040-acre, family-owned vineyard. They run the largest grape-growing operation in the State of Texas. They're located in the far west region of the Texas High Plains near Brownfield. The farm was established over 60 years ago, though they did not grow grapes until recently. They also happen to be the second largest peanut grower in the world.

VINTAGE

Overall, 2015 was a difficult vintage in the Texas High Plains where hail took out several vineyards. Despite the weather issues, the grapes came in with perfect ripeness, albeit with very low yields.

WINEMAKING

After harvest, the wine was fermented in stainless steel tank. It was then aged for 26 months in 15% new French oak before bottling.

Alcohol: 12.5% | pH: 3.75 | TA: 6.8 g/L | RS: 0.0 g/L | Cases: 162
